DEATH SENTENCE SATURDAY FOR SACCO, VANZETTI

HER PRAYER SACCO'S HOPE

SHE DOESN'T FORGET IMPRISONED FATHER
Nicola Sacco, the little daughter of Nicola Sacco, convicted of the Braintree killings, who will be sentenced Saturday to death in the electric chair, centers a devout supplication at the feet of the saints to save the doom hovering over her father. Although only a child, she does not forget in his need the father whom the law declares forgot her when he launched upon a criminal career.

DIVIDEND CUT PROVIDED IN CONTROL BILL
Dividends to common stockholders of the Boston Elevated would be cut another half of one per cent, according to an amendment voted today by the Senate to the 15-year public control extension bill. The amendment would make the dividend an even 5 per cent, and the topped-off half of one per cent, would total $1,750,000 in the 15-year period that could be used for road betterment or fare reduction, Senator Martin of Gardner pointed out in the debate.

3 Women Saved by Ladder in Newton Fire

MAN BADLY BURNED, 20 FLEE AS FLAMES SWEEP BIG BLOCK OF STORES

Three women, one of them unconscious, were rescued over a ladder, a man badly burned, and 20 others fled as flames swept a big block of stores in Newton, Mass., last night. The fire broke out at 11:30 p. m. at the corner of Main and Centre streets, near the Newton Centre station. It spread rapidly, burning the stores of the block, and the firemen had to use ladders to reach the upper floors. A man was badly burned, and 20 others fled. The fire was caused by a gas stove in a restaurant. The firemen arrived at 12:15 a. m. and fought the fire for two hours. The damage was estimated at $20,000. VANZETTI IS PLACED IN CHERRY HILL CELL; DOOM SLAYERS ON SATURDAY

Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti will be taken to the State House on Saturday, at 10 o'clock, and will be sentenced to death in the electric chair.

While counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti were searching for a legal loophole that would permit them to carry the case of the convicted payroll slayers to the Supreme Court of the United States, today, Assistant District Attorney Dudley F. Ranney of Norfolk county was taking swift steps to send the two Communists to death in payment for their crime.

Following a conference with Judge Webster Thayer, the trial judge in the case, Attorney Ranney announced that the convicted men would be taken to court Saturday. Attorney Ranney is in charge of the government's case against the accused men. It was Attorney Ranney who represented the government when the appeal was made for a new trial and District Attorney Winfield M. Wilbur of Norfolk county.

GUARD FRENCH ENVOY, GUEST OF HUB LEGION

Greeted by army, navy and marine escorts and a military band playing the Marseillaise, M. Paul Claudel, French Ambassador, arrived here today at the State department. Ambassador Claudel will take part in the legation's observance of the tenth anniversary of this country's entering the World War.

To prevent a threatened demonstration by Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers, a heavy guard of plainclothes men and secret service men was assigned to Ambassador Claudel. From the time he stepped off the train at the South Station he was closely guarded. Police had learned of a demonstration planned for the day. The station, where he was greeted by an escort of soldiers, sailors and marines, the ambassador went to the Hotel Statler for registration.

Grieves for Slayer in Shadow of Doom As Armed Men Guard Courts From Vengeance of Radicals

SHE CAN ONLY PONDER HIS GRIM FATE. Inis Sacco, the little daughter of Nicola Sacco, who is crushed by the doom which hangs over her father, convicted slayer with Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

SACCO AND VANZETTI HEAR DEATH SENTENCE SATURDAY

Sacco and Vanzetti, a new trial, and virtually sealed their doom. While the machinery of the government was thus being speeded up to sentence the two men for murder of a South Britton newspaper editor and his assistant seven years ago, members of the illustrious committee that has fought the case of the two radicals through the courts announced a public meeting at 9 o'clock tonight to discuss new ways and means of saving the men from the death penalty.

William G. Thompson, chief counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti, announced that he has formulated no plan of action. The situation demands some thought, and until it has carefully been over the Supreme Court decision, and has formulated some plan of action, it has nothing to say, the attorney declared.

The meeting tonight will be held under the direction of the Sacco-Vanzetti Citizens' Committee. It will be held in the committee headquarters at No. 235 Hanover street, North End.

The secretary of the committee announced that a public statement would be issued tomorrow, following the decision of the Supreme Court. Other members of the committee who appeared at the headquarters indicated that the committee would concentrate on an appeal to the Governor.

These men, all of whom have followed the court proceedings of the two slayers, are convinced that they have no constitutional grounds on which they can carry the case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The decision of the Supreme Court in the Sacco case has had a far-reaching effect.

M. Paul Claude, French Ambassador to the United States, arrived at South Station today, escorted by a group of Secret Service men, while a cordon of Boston police surrounded the government guards as soon as the distinguished visitor alighted from his train.

Three Moves Left in Fight to Save Sacco, Vanzetti
THREE methods of procedure are open to the Sacco-Vanzetti committee in the fight for the lives of the condemned radicals. These methods are:
1—Petition to the Supreme Court of Massachusetts for a rehearing on the original position for a new trial.
2—Appeal to the United States Supreme Court on the ground that there has not been due process of law in the Sacco-Vanzetti case.
3—Appeal to Governor Alvan T. Fuller and the Executive Council for commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment, or an appeal for a complete pardon.

GUARD LEGATION AFTER SACCO DECISION
Geneva, April 6 (A.P.)—Dillon protection was extended to the American Legation, and consular in Switzerland upon receipt of news from Massachusetts that a new trial had been denied to Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.
It is rumored that the United States consulate here has received a number of threatening letters with regard to the Sacco-Vanzetti case during the last few months.

"Is That So?" Says Vanzetti as He Hears News
Bartolomeo Vanzetti was unmoved today when he was told that the Supreme Court of Massachusetts had sealed his doom by refusing him a new trial.
"Is that so?" was Vanzetti's only comment.
Vanzetti, serving a sentence in the Charlestown State Prison for burglary, was told of the decision before he left his cell today. For months past he has been employed in the prison factory where automobile registration plates are manufactured, but today he was placed in solitary confinement in the Cherry Hill section of the prison.

30 IN A QUINCY TENEMENT FIRE
Thirty men, women and children in Quincy today owe their safety to Sergeant Henry Riley and Patrolman John Fitzgerald, who braved dense smoke to make their way to the third floor of the Mutual Building on Hancock street, across the tenants and plot them down stairs to safety.
Flames were discovered early today under the Berry Furniture Company's store on the first floor, and the building by then was filled with dense smoke. The two Quincy policemen groped their way to the third floor where tenants were sleeping and started to arouse them.
This proved a difficult task in some cases, and twice the policemen had to shatter doors to wake the sound sleepers. The policemen assisted the women out, and carried many of the children to safety while firemen battled the basement blaze, which gave them a tough fight.

GRAY WRITING OWN STORY OF FATAL LOVE

New York, April 6.—Sitting in a small rear room near her cell, Mrs. Ruth Snyder today told her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown, that she is innocent of participating in the murder of her husband, Albert. At the same time, in his cell on the other side of the Queens County Jail, Henry Gold wrote one the editor of Mrs. Snyder, penned the story of his romance with her. This story will be used at the trial in an effort to show that Mrs. Snyder plotted the slaying.

Mrs. Brown would not reveal what her daughter told her, but after an interview lasting half an hour the mother said:

"Poor Ruth, I have known all along that she did not do it and I am convinced after talking to her that she is innocent. Poor Ruth. No matter what she may have done she did not kill her husband."

GOOD LOOKS ARE GONE.
Mrs. Brown's talk with her daughter was the first since Mrs. Snyder was committed to jail after her indictment. Ninety-year-old Lorraine Snyder did not accompany her grandmother to the jail.

"My daughter looks terrible," Mrs. Brown said. "Her good looks are gone. She asked about Lorraine and the canary bird. She asked me so many questions I couldn't answer all of them."

Two keepers and a matron were present at the interview. Mrs. Brown brought two boxes dressed, a sweater and candy and fruit. Jail attendants, however, refused to give the candy and fruit to the prisoner. This is in keeping with the usual regulations to prevent any attempts at suicide, they explained.

FINDS SOLACE IN SEWING.
Mrs. Brown said her daughter is reading and sewing, "to keep her mind off the terrible thing."

Mrs. Snyder was much relieved to learn the ordeal of the trial had been put off for another week, the mother said.

A definite announcement was made today that a separate trial will be sought for Mrs. Snyder. Dana, Welch, of counsel for the widow, said.

PRESIDENT OF G. E. COMPANY ONCE 'SG MAN'

New York, April 6 (A.P.)—Wall Street understands that it was Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, who declined a salary of a quarter of a million a year with a bonus of a million dollars worth of General Electric stock to head the Godfrey T. and Huber Company.

Testimony was given in Godfrey litigation that such an offer had been refused by a nationally prominent business executive.

Gerard Swope, trustee of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, received $4 a week when he first went to work for the huge organization he now heads as President.

It was in 1933 that the electrical engineer started as a helper for his $1 a day in the Chicago shops.

REST WAS RAPID
He was born in St. Louis, but had little time to spend there since he was a youngster. M. I. T. gave him his technical education and he was graduated in 1915 as electrical engineer, starting to work immediately for the Western Electric Co. in Chicago at $7 a day.

Ten years later he was a general manager, eighteen years later a vice president and director, and in 1933 was elected president of the International General Electric Co., holding that post until three years later when he was elected president of the General Electric Co.

Meanwhile, however, during the war, he had served on the general staff of the Army as assistant director of purchase, stores and traffic, receiving in recognition of his services the Distinguished Service Medal and elevation as Chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

OFFICIAL WELCOME TO BOSTON

Arriving here to take part in the American Legion's observance of the tenth anniversary of this country's entering the World War, Ambassador Paul Claudel was greeted by Governor and Mayor, officers of the army and navy, and then paid a visit to Cardinal O'Connell. He will speak at the banquet tonight.

COURT DECIDES POLICE MUST RULE TRAFFIC

The Boston police department won a victory in the Supreme Court today, when a decision was handed down by the full bench of the court upholding the right of the members of the police department to regulate traffic, as regards the parking of automobiles.

Albert Flax, a taxi driver, was fined $5 in Superior Court for refusing to move his car at the direction of a police officer. He appealed and the decision handed down today confirms the sentence of the lower court.

Flax was ordered to move his taxi cab from one side of the street to the other, all refused to do so, telling the officer he would move his machine when he, the officer, had moved certain private machines from the taxi stand on the opposite side of the street.

Judge Pierce, who wrote the decision, holds that the officer's opinion must be accepted and his orders obeyed.

ENWRIGHT HAS TO SERVE TERM; LOSES APPEAL

The eight months sentence imposed in Superior Criminal Court for alleged libel must be served by Frederick W. Enwright, former publisher of the Boston Telegraph.

Enwright's exceptions were overruled today by the full bench of the Supreme Court. He was found guilty of libeling ex-Mayor James M. Curley through a cartoon and an editorial in the Enwright newspaper.

As soon as the District Attorney moves for revocation of the stay of sentence—which probably will occur within two or three days, according to the District Attorney's office—Enwright will have to begin his sentence in Charles Street Jail.

Judge Sanderson, who wrote the Supreme Court opinion, said: "In deciding whether the cartoon was intended to depict Curley, the jury could consider the parts of the picture above and below the picture as well as its resemblance, or lack of resemblance, to the individual, from such observation of him as they also were entitled to hear the evidence offered in the case."

The fact that Curley was in the courtroom did not, as matter of law, deprive the Commonwealth of its right to introduce evidence which would have been competent in his absence. By reason of his presence

Flapperish Notices Warn Tardy Debtors

Oh, husband, what sins are committed in idle days.

It is a dainty envelope, your name and address written in pretty feminine hand, even, a trace of scent hangs about the missive.

No waste-basket for that letter, says poor deluded you.

You open the flap to find that it is lined with a golden film, impressively suggestive of rendezvous and smitten flappers.

Then you take out the letter itself, and disillusion fills your soul.

It reads—"Pay your bill to Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston or your lights will be shut off."

Have you received one of them?—You received one once, but the jury was enabled to some extent, at least, to test the accuracy of the evidence by their own observation."

Judge Sanderson also said that Assistant District Attorney Daniel J. Lyons was not obliged to call Curley as a witness, and that it was open for the defendant to have made a witness.

The Red Signal

ROGER IN PURSUIT—A sleepless night served to fan Roger's fury. Helen telephoned. She was worried; no word had been received from Rosalind. The sound of her grief-stricken voice decided Roger. Grinly he hurried a few belongings into his traveling bag and set out for Newport.

Accused

A NEW DOOR OPENS—Rosalind gave a gasp of surprise as she inspected Manton's luxurious Newport mansion. The richness of the furnishings, the gossamer of its rooms transported her with joy. Here was a world of which she had dreamed. The millionaire had won her gratitude by his courtesies on the trip. "All these," he whispered, "can be yours for the asking. Without you, they mean nothing to me. I want you to be happy."

by Homer Banks

THE DINNER PARTY—Rosalind's eyes clouded and Manton diplomatically changed the subject. The girl found herself admitting him for his fact. He seemed to divine her thoughts and smiled. "You had better rest, now, my dear, and freshen up for dinner," he suggested. "I have ordered food fit for the palace of a prince." An hour later at dinner Manton hovered over Rosalind. She smiled gratefully at him.

AN UNEXPECTED GUEST

AN UNEXPECTED GUEST—The attorney entertained her with a brilliant account of his travels abroad. His description charmed her. "I see you like to travel, too," he laughed. Rosalind nodded wistfully. "Well, you shall, my dear." He reached over to pat her hand when there was a commotion in the vestibule. A wild figure hurried into the room. It was Roger! Rosalind arose, stifling a cry. Roger confronted them furiously. "Well," he ground out bitterly, "I see I've trilled the birds to their nest at last!"

WASHBURN TO HUB LAWYER TO PAY ALIMONY WED ABROAD

Temporary alimony of $40 a week pending hearing on her separate support petition was awarded Mrs. Thomas G. Washburn in Probate Court today. After a bench conference with Judge Pierce, counsel declared the amount which had been agreed on before the hearing.

Mrs. Washburn, wife of a well-known real estate man and art collector, also is suing Mrs. Josephine L. Pope, wealthy Brighton woman, for English chaperone alimony of her husband's affections. Mrs. Pope was twice divorced.

Charles Henry Fields, of Weston, and a Boston attorney, today obtained a special license from the Archbishop of Canterbury, in London, to marry Miss Winifred Russell, an English resident of Belvoir, who is at present living in Berkeley, England.

The marriage will take place on Saturday. It was originally planned for May. Fields will take his bride to Boston where they will live at No. 104 Marlboro street.

POLICE CHASING 'BAD MAN' WHO QUIT HOSPITAL

John F. Sullivan, 21, who figured in a near gun battle in a Hanover street pawnshop a week ago, is at large today, having made his escape from the psychiatric hospital where he had been sent for observation after arraignment in municipal court Monday.

Police searched his escape today and located him "fugitive" in depositions sent to all nearby police headquarters. Sullivan is wanted for robbery in Pittsburg, Mass. Lawrence and other crime and towns. He escaped from the psycho-pathic hospital by forcing a window after visiting the attendants and dropping to the ground with another patient.

With Charles Trippi, Sullivan was arrested a week ago by Special Officer Hugh Sullivan in a Hanover street pawnshop.

When the officer started to arrest him, Trippi, according to the report, tried to pull his gun. After a battle he was subdued and the gun was taken away from him.

In court Monday he and Sullivan were arraigned. Trippi was charged with assault with intent to kill. He was held in $20,000 bail.

Sullivan was sent to the psychiatric hospital for observation.

When he escaped from the hospital, Sullivan was overpowered and the regulation bed slipped. It is thought he may be a confederate of the man who shot his way out of the hospital.

He is described of medium complexion, about five feet six inches in height, blue eyes and brown hair.

GOODWIN'S PAY RAISE BILL REJECTED

Register Frank A. Goodwin buried more words in a Chairman Charles P. Howard of the State Commission on Administration and Finance in another battle today over state employee pay raises, but even while he was doing so the pay raise bill was reported an adverse in committee.

Only one dissenter was recorded on the House Ways and Means Committee in its report that the bill "ought not to pass." It was Representative Michael Jordan of Lawrence.

In rejecting the war over the bill today, Register Goodwin, who had been named as a deliberate liar, said by C. P. Howard that the bill increases would mean an addition of $2,000,000 or $4,000,000 to the state payroll, add:

"If statement, that the bill proposes for increasing a large number of the Griffiths salary levels, is absolutely untrue because there were not more than twenty-five upward changes in 1915 classes, and there was a reduction in fifteen or twenty of the classes made by the Committee on Public Service," declared Goodwin.

"His further statement that all salaries over $2,000, except mine, were not down is also a deliberate falsehood, because the salary of the director of vocational education was left as fixed by Griffiths, at from $4,000 to $12,000; the income tax director at $2,000 to $12,000; the medical director at $2,000 to $12,000; the director of the Boston Psycho-pathic Hospital at $2,000 to $12,000; and the president of the Massachusetts Agricultural College at from $7,500 to $12,000.

GIRL HOCKEY FAN SEEKS $10,000 FOR BROKEN NOSE

Springfield, April 6 (A.P.)—After the serious injuries as the result of being struck by a hockey stick while a spectator at a game in the Coliseum of the Eastern States Exposition, Irene O'Connell today brought suit against the Springfield Ice Rink, Inc., for $10,000.

She alleges that her nose was broken, eyes injured and face bruised and marked and blames failure to provide suitable safeguards.

DON'T LET THE FLY KILL YOU—MAHONEY WARNING

"The fly, a disease carrier, is known to transmit typhoid fever, tuberculosis, erysipelas, anthrax and other body infections and intestinal diseases," says a health Commissioner. "Many housewives dispose of these refuse by putting it into stoves or furnaces, but sometimes the odors are nauseating and the combustion is not sufficient."

Diligent attention of every day to the fly is the best way to avoid these diseases, he says. Classifications 15 and 21.

3 WOMEN SAVED BY LADDERS AT NEWTON

prior of a second floor beauty parlor and two women customers.

The proprietor was overcome by smoke while being carried to a window and she was unable to assist the women climbing in the arms of firemen.

In addition to the women, the rescuers were Hoseman William Foley, Captain Michael Turner, Lieutenant Jack Welch and Patrolman Peter Conlan.

Hero Janitor Saves 10 at Blaze in Lynn

William John Hoyt was just a janitor at the Princeton Hotel, No. 224 Washington street, Lynn, on 10th day, when he became an iron man, a hero and finally a hospital case after daring death in many thrilling fire rescues.

All Hoyt did after discovering a fire in the basement that rapidly filled the building was race through the three-story building warning the occupants and then carry out his wife, two children and a sick youth of twenty and assist in the rescuing of six other women.

But when the janitor opened once more into the building in the better that a fifteen-year-old girl was trapped on the third floor, he was overcome by smoke, toppled down a flight of stairs, fractured one arm, lay unconscious for some time and was fast approaching the Great Beyond when found by firemen.

New Hoyt is a patient at the Lynn Hospital, awaiting much to his amazement, on a white cot to find himself all bandaged and fastening like a smoked sailing.

The hero-janitor, an ex-serviceman, is the former Lynn rescue policeman discharged six months ago by Mayor Ralph S. Bauer after Hoyt failed to tell a Lynn woman the man Hoyt introduced to her and whom she was about to marry, was already married.

Mrs. Dorothy Ross Reed married Reed, but he was subsequently prosecuted for bigamy and is now serving a sentence at Salem. When she told Mayor Bauer of the case he tried Hoyt on a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer and discharged him from the force.

Hoyt attracted by sudden rolls of thick smoke from the apartment block basement, fought down through the clouds and found the coal and wood bins alight.

First he sounded an alarm. Then he raced through the building, pounding on apartment doors and warning the occupants, most of them women and children, while men folk had gone to work.

Back downstairs he found, leaving steps at a time through the smoke, soiled his face, carried her to the street, dashed back again and emerged with his little daughter, Marion, 3, and Ruth, 2, tucked under his arms.

Remembering that 20-year-old Stephen Annie Jay II in bed on the second floor, Hoyt groped up through the smoke, lifted the youth and carried him out.

By then the firemen were arriving and Hoyt aided them in rescue of Mrs. Elmer B. Sweet, Mrs. Frances W. Tucker, Mrs. Fred E. Dorr, Mrs. George A. Collins, Mrs. Rose L. Whitman and Mrs. Thomas C. Brennan.

When these had been effected, someone told Hoyt that 16-year-old Leah Aldridge and her baby cot were still upstairs on the third floor.

By then the firemen were arriving and Hoyt aided them in rescue of Mrs. Elmer B. Sweet, Mrs. Frances W. Tucker, Mrs. Fred E. Dorr, Mrs. George A. Collins, Mrs. Rose L. Whitman and Mrs. Thomas C. Brennan.

Fire Ends Flight

FRANCESCO DE PINEDO Italian four-continent tour ended today when his seaplane was burned in Arizona.

FIRE DESTROYS GRAY WRITING PINEDO PLANE

mander De Pinedo and his crew escaped unharmed when they leaped overboard.

Thousands of persons gathered on the shore of the huge irrigation dam witnessed the disaster. Among them were many Italians who had come to cheer their countryman on his four continent flight. The plane came from Elephant Butte dam, 40 miles in three hours and 24 minutes.

New York, April 6 (A.P.)—Commander Francesco De Pinedo's four-continent flight started from Gagar, Sardinia, February 12. Crossing the Atlantic by way of Africa and the Cape Verde Islands he reached the mainland of Brazil February 22 and Buenos Aires March 2. From Buenos Aires he flew northwest on the North American line of his flight.

The total length of the four-continent flight itinerary exceeded 22,000 miles, but it was not to be Commander De Pinedo's longest flight. In 1925 he made a great 24,000 mile aerial tour of the Far East, visiting Australia, the Philippines and Japan.

GRAY WRITING STORY OF LOVE

He was preparing his motion today and will appear in Supreme Court tomorrow to argue the matter.

Wallace said he is investigating to determine what part Gray's alibi witnesses in Syracuse played in connection with the case.

The attorney took exception to statements that he and District Attorney Newcombe are political opponents. Such matters, he said, "should be entirely foreign to an issue where human life is at stake."

Despite the fact that it is still uncertain which lawyer will defend Gray, the recent salesman hastened himself most of the day in writing the story of his secret love.

It is much interested in the story but has spells when he broods over the scandal into which he has drawn his life.

Oil Head Gets Life

Tulsa, Okla., April 6 (U.S.A.)—Walter M. Traver, president of the Petroleum Oil Company of New York was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary at McAlester in District Court here today for the murder of Edward M. Craig.

LIVELY GROUP OF BOYS RIDE TO ZOO

GILIE CONIDGE FREE HAND IN CHINA CRISIS

Four hundred and thirty boys, confined to the House of the Angel Guardian, Jamaica Plain, enjoyed free bus rides through Boston's park system today, and then visited the Franklin Park Zoo, as guests of the Boston Evening American and Gray Line Sightseeing Company.

This was the third day of the free bus rides and visits to the Zoo being given by this newspaper and the Gray Line, to the children housed in orphanages and similar institutions of Greater Boston.

Never has a livelier or better behaved group of boys visited the Zoo than those from the House of the Angel Guardian. They enjoyed everything to the fullest extent. Even the oldest attendants got a "kick out of the boys' visit."

EVEN ANIMALS HAPPY. It seemed as if the animals were all happy to see the youngsters. The lions and tigers leaped from their reclining positions and jumped around their cages like kittens as the boys crowded to the railing in front of the cages of the beasts.

The same thing occurred when they visited the monkey house. Many of the chattering little simians "did their stuff on trays for the boys to their delight."

The elephants, bears, and brilliantly colored birds all got their share of attention.

To make the outing more enjoyable a concert was given at Franklin Park by the boys' band of the House of Angel Guardian. And how those boys can play!

FRANCIS HIDES. City Councillor George Gifford, who accompanied one group of kids said: "The Boston Evening American and the Gray Line can be praised too highly for arranging these outings for the boys and girls in Greater Boston institutions."

"I had a wonderful time going around the zoo with the children. It was an inspiration to see those youngsters enthralled over the birds and animals. The educational value of these outings cannot be measured."

Tomorrow the children in St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum, Cambridge, South End and Deley Industrial School, Train street, Dorchester, will be guests of the same paper and the Gray Line.

DUTCH LINER ASHORE; 1,500 CHINESE ABOARD

London, April 6 (A.P.)—A Hong Kong dispatch to the Evening News reports that the Dutch liner "Zinn" had been found for Java with 1,500 Chinese emigrants, stranded off Ling-tung Island, fifteen miles south of Hong Kong in heavy weather. Distress signals brought the British cruiser Frobenius, which at the time the dispatch was filed had taken off 500 of the emigrants and was still standing by. Other ships were rushing to the assistance of the liner, which was partly waterlogged.

"Here is the loaf we always wanted."

50,000 of you asked us
to make it exactly this way

Not a guess-work loaf. Not our pet idea of the kind of bread you ought to have—but YOUR idea of the kind of bread YOU wanted.

Made precisely as 50,000 of you asked us to make it. From your own lips we learned just what you wanted in bread . . . what husbands liked . . . what children relished.

And from 5,000 grocers, too, we obtained information never before obtained by any baker.

First-hand, we found that there were two groups of bread-eaters—those who liked a fine-textured loaf, such as Hathaway's Cream Bread—those who wanted a loaf entirely different from any present bread.

And so came GILT EDGE BREAD . . . a loaf with more slices . . . bulkier and lighter-grained . . . with a new appealing flavor . . . that comes fresh and stays fresh . . . a quality loaf that meets the requirements of perfect toast and delicious sandwiches

YOUR bread is at your Grocer's.

THE FURNITURE COMPANY WINNER OF FIRST REVIEW CONTEST

FORM'S 'AD' SORTED AS BEST

Business men, students and teachers of economics and merchandising, to which advertisement will be selected as the best for this week of the competition.

NOT EASY TASK

All ads in today's paper as well as in every day's paper this week, are passing under the scrutiny of the board of judges, who are formulating their decision for the next weekly period as the "best" ad.

It was no easy task for the judges to determine the winner, because the advertising character of the week's ad seemed as better than ordinary.

In addition, the judges remarked upon the general good quality of the theatrical advertising, a field in which this city ranks among the leaders.

The judges were particularly impressed with the simplicity of treatment and expression which characterizes the winning ad.

REASONS FOR VICTORY

"The illustration is comprehensive, 'understood' and well composed. 'The headline is vigorous and direct.' 'The composition is clean and eminently readable.' 'It is both specific and institutional.' Such were the words of the judges' advertisement. They feel it to be especially well adapted to the home and to the minds of New England people."

So the Furniture Company receives a receipted bill for one of their prize-winning advertisements and, in the meanwhile, thousands of interested readers are scanning the pages of the Boston Evening American in an effort to simulate one of the week ending Saturday, April 9, the second week of the competition. Each week Wednesday's paper for the advertisement of the winner.

The judges, appointed by Mayor P. F. O'Brien, presiding over the judging of the contest, are:

MR. ALLEN H. WOOD, president, Wood, Putnam & Wood Company, No. 178 Tremont street, Boston.

MR. GEORGE G. BOKER, chief superintendent, Metropolitan Sales Corporation, No. 200 State street, Boston.

MR. LAURENCE E. CONDER, advertising manager, Boston Women's Club, 1000 Beacon street, Boston.

MR. FLOYD L. MILLER, The Harris Press, No. 200 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

MR. JACOB S. WICKERY, publicity manager, Mellon Food Company, No. 175 State street, Boston.

The following criteria are used in measuring the value of the advertisements.

Grade of Boston General Interest (10)
(1) Quality of Illustration (10)
(2) Quality of Headline (10)
(3) Interest and Readability of Statement (10)
(4) Appropriateness of Copy and Layout (10)
(5) Appropriateness of Copy to Character and Character of the Advertisement (10)
(6) Appropriateness of Copy to the Medium (10)
(7) Appropriateness of Copy to the Time (10)
(8) Appropriateness of Copy to the Place (10)

MINUS PROPELLER BLADE

One of four propellers of the Leeward Windmill was torn away, Captain Harcourt reports, when the ship's arrival here today. The ship brought several passengers from Queenstown and Liverpool, and a ton and a half of general cargo for here, in addition to cargo of the British steamship Port Harcourt, forced to put back to the River Humber with boiler trouble. Five Irish "timbers," the crew of the Leeward, were also aboard, consigned to Miss D. V. H. of Providence, R. I. Among the passengers to disembark were Mrs. Charles J. Deane of Westford, N. H., and Mrs. Joseph W. Turner of West Hartford, Conn. Also Mrs. W. C. Clark, Mrs. John J. Clark, Mrs. Margaret Hamilton and Mrs. Sarah A. W. of Boston.

WEBB LODGE OF MASONS TO GREET MAYOR TONIGHT

Washburn Pleds for $15,000 for War Park

Convinced of the utility of trying to get an appropriation of $100,000 for a memorial to Massachusetts' dead on land purchased by the State in St. Mihiel, France, Representative Slater Washburn of Worcester to day pleaded in the House of Representatives for an appropriation of $15,000 to clean the land and convert it into a memorial park. He again referred to "a blind pig" which is being conducted on the ruins of a cafe on land "dedicated to the war dead of the State."

U. S. Declared War on Germany Ten Years Ago Today

Washington, April 6.—Ten years ago Woodrow Wilson delivered his stirring night address, asking for a declaration of hostilities against Germany, in special session of Congress. Then drove to the White House and, in the center of his intimates, burst into tears.

Ten years ago, at 2 A. M., to the second, April 6, 1917, the House after a five-hour debate, approved the war resolution, 375 to 50. The Senate approved it earlier.

LEGION PICKS PARIS UNIFORMS
were looked over at the State House today by the Legionnaires who will vote on their choice of the State's official outfit for the convention. The "mannequins" are, left to right, J. V. Halligan, E. W. Grove, Thomas P. Douglas and William F. Mulvey.

UNION OFFERS 4 FREE SPINNERS TO MILL

Fall River, April 6 (A.P.)—The Duff and Spinnery Union of the United Textile workers of America today offered the services of four spinners, free of charge, to the Westman Mills if the plant will rescind an order claimed to have been effective recently requiring spinners to operate twenty "alikes" instead of ten "alikes".

The union claims the operatives are unable to efficiently conform to the rule and become ill through attempts to do so. The union will pay the wages of the four spinners if the offer is accepted.

FRANCE'S ENVOY IN BOSTON

visitors were closely scrutinized before being allowed to pass. With the French military attaché, General George Dumont, and Howland P. Savage, national commander of the legion, the Ambassador was escorted by hundreds as he stepped from his train at the South Station to inspect the service escort drawn up on summer street. From the station he was escorted to the Hotel Cavalry and a detachment of traffic officers.

He is to be the speaker at the annual legion banquet tonight. From the Hotel Cavalry he was escorted to the State House, where Governor Fuller welcomed him to the Bay State. This is the first visit to Massachusetts as an ambassador.

From the State House he went to City Hall, where Mayor Nichols extended the welcome of the city, and then he visited Cardinal O'Connell. William J. McEneaney, State commander of the legion, accompanied the distinguished visitor.

After the formal visits were completed, M. Claudel and the Legion party lunched at Touraine with National Commander Savage. Governor Fuller as the speaker paid high tribute to Claudel and General Dumont as "representatives of our sister Republic." He also spoke of the apparent ingratitude of America towards the soldiers who fought for liberty, but expressed the hope that deep down in the heart of every American citizen is a great appreciation of what these men did.

Rear Admiral Andrews, Brigadier-General Malvern Hill Thurston and Congressman A. Paul Andrews were in the official welcoming party when the Ambassador arrived at the South Station.

The official escort included one company of marines, under Lieutenant Charles Linscott, one company of sailors from the U. S. S. Putnam, and one company of Marines from the U. S. S. Albatross. They were accompanied by a detachment from the 11th Cavalry, under Major Brush, and a detachment from the 11th Cavalry, under Lieutenant Everett H. Jenkins. This year's annual command of the business of the French consulate in Boston through a basement office in Copple square. With his old friend, Consul Flamand, the distinguished visitor slipped away from the escorts in order to see the little office where once he dreamed of greatness while making out voluminous reports on the business of France as conducted here. They found the office changed as thirty years would change it, and there Flamand and Claudel laughed and chatted of the times that were. "All has changed, my friends," he said to newspaper men. "But with one exception. That is, the spirit of the people in Boston."

From the former French consulate M. Claudel, General George Dumont and Consul Flamand drove around the city with the ambassador here and there pointed out some spot or building which looked familiar. "Ah," he said when his little tour was completed, "it is the same old Boston as long as the spirit remains. I am sorry the principles of America do not allow the people to enjoy the wins of France, but I know when the Legion boys go over there next Fall they will be given a hearty welcome and reception. France is best in September, that is the time to see her."

The next visit the ambassador made was to an Italian street studio where a painting depicting the decoration of the 18th regiment's colors by General Pershing during the war is in progress. M. Claudel said he was returning to France April 23 to see his family. When he returns during the summer he will bring his family back and at present is tentatively planning to remain at Minuteman-the-Son. Boston is the first American city he has visited since his arrival at Washington.

A dream of an ambassador, Claudel also made the winter road, for the classified ads for 1927 end on today.

BLUE UNIFORM CHOSEN FOR LEGION

Dark blue, long trousers with a gold stripe on the left leg, turn-down collar, brass buttons and overseas caps. That is the new uniform for the Massachusetts department American Legion, according to a choice made by the annual conference in session in Gardiner Auditorium at the State House today.

Almost unanimously the conference preferred the overseas cap to the barracks hat and a preference also indicated for the Legion seal instead of the State seal on left shoulder. William H. Griffin, chairman of the uniform committee, showed the delegates a number of uniforms from which to make their choice. Delegates from all parts of the State were present. Charles M. FINDI' KEEPIN' FOR HER IF IT'S $30,000 GEM

New York, April 6 (A.P.)—Finding is keeping for Adelaide Forrester, who found a $30,000 pearl necklace with a diamond and platinum in a street last August and after six months of publicity and police effort failed to find the owner, it was turned over to her today by a property clerk at police headquarters.

Adelaide Forrester was the subject of an address by Percy J. Cantwell, secretary of the first district rehabilitation committee. The Legion liaison service proved interesting to the delegates.

Charles P. Gorman, department chairman, said that the Legion's social program, he was followed by Marie D. Grove, department president of the Legion Auxiliary. John D. Crowley, chairman of child welfare, was the next speaker. He spoke on the Legion try to France for the next national convention. Captain H. H. Griffin outlined the department aviation program.

WINE GENTIN

Is useful when there is a want of tone, as indicated by a general feeling of weakness, an incapacity for exertion, impaired appetite, and dyspeptic symptoms. In fact, when people are over-worked, bothered, and feel regularly out of sorts, they cannot do better mechanically than take WINE GENTIN.

Then, again, WINE GENTIN is useful for people who have been pulled down by a long painful illness, who have been knocked "clean off their legs" and "can't pick up again."

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Smart Group of Bostonians Sails for Mediterranean Shores Today

SUCH A VERY SMART AND IMPORTANT SET AS SALES today for the Mediterranean on the Conte Rosso. Boston elegantes are away in numbers, hitting higher and you about the globe intently bent on the pleasures afforded by travel and leisure—to be a bit paradoxical! Really the leisure set is as busy about its pleasures as the workaday stay-at-home about their daily rounds. But let us see who and what is aboard the Rosso. The William A. Gastone of Bay State road are passengers. The Colonel and his handsome spouse are going to Spain for a Springtime journey.

PRETTY, DEMURE MISS EVELYN WINDELER AND HER parents, the G. Herbert Windelers, are aboard the Rosso. They, however, are varying their itinerary somewhat and instead of going directly to England to spend the Spring and Summer, as is their wont, they disembark at Gibraltar and slowly travel northward via the land of the Don and the Matadora. Mrs. Frederick J. Bradley of Beacon street (mother-in-law of that stunning, Titian-haired bride of a few weeks, Mrs. Malcolm Bradley, who was Miss Alice Lee Thomas) is a Conte Rosso passenger.

SO, ALSO, ARE MRS. NATHANIEL S. SIMPKINS, JR. AND HER small son, Master Oliver. The family is otherwise represented by Mrs. John L. Thorndike and Miss Alice Thorndike, mother and sister of Mrs. Simpkins. Miss Thorndike has been pleasantly following her favorite sports of riding and tennis up and down the country. Tennis at Palm Beach and the hunt and riding at Aiken, and now she's away to the other side of the world in the Spring exodus of the elite. Gino L. Perera of the Boston Art Club is on the Rosso. So, too, are the William W. Coolidges, who make their winter home at the Hotel Tudor. And Miss Susan Mills, the Coolidge party.

TEA AT MRS. ALVAN T. FULLER'S IS ALWAYS A DELIGHTFUL occasion, and yesterday's affair was conspicuously so, as it was "to meet" Madame Ethel Leszinska, the famous pianist-composer-conductor now in town. Mrs. Fuller and Madame Leszinska, received in the handsome French drawing room of the handsome Beacon street mansion that is the city home of the popular and gracious First Lady and His Excellency. Mrs. Fuller's gown of black satin was velvet in gossamer lace of much the same gray-green motif as the drawing room, and Madame Leszinska's thick bobbed locks (that mark her so distinctively) rose from a simple black velvet quite devoid of ornament.

THE GOVERNOR'S SISTER, MRS. OSCAR HALSEY, MADE EFFECTIVE one end of the tea table, wearing a smart frock and hat of the new dusky red. Miss Mildred Bradley, behind the other arm, was equally in the picture in gray frock and snug chapeau of black fur, and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, Mrs. Paine smart in black; Mr. and

MRS. ALVAN T. FULLER

The Governor's wife, with Mrs. Ethel Leszinska, received at a tea held in honor of the latter in the Fuller Beacon street home.

MRS. RICHARD SEARS, MARKEDLY DISTINGUISHED IN BLACK. Mrs. Charles K. Cummings, Mrs. Edwin U. Curtis, Mrs. William Stanley Parker, Mrs. Jasper Whitling, Dr. Calvin Gates Page and Mrs. Page, Isadore Bragotti and the Misses Francesca and Bertha, Mrs. Nathaniel Emmons in black with silver, came to meet Madame Leszinska.

RICHARD PLATT'S AFTERNOON OF MUSIC, THIS SIXTH OF April, will be specially pleasing to his friends and admirers, for Mr. Platt is himself to make one of his infrequent appearances. He will play a group at the pianoforte. His assisting artists are Miss Virginia Gardner, who possesses a delightful soprano voice, and Alessandro Niccoli to play the violin. Mr. Platt's Winter and Spring series of informal Wednesday afternoons continue through April 20.

THE BERENGARIA SAILED AT MIDNIGHT AND ON BOARD were a trio of Boston matrons whose Spring wanderings abroad are more than ordinarily interesting. Mrs. Ronald Lyman is going to London and Paris. Mrs. Harold Jefferson Coolidge is also bound for those highly desirable spots, and so is Mrs. Butler Ames. The Berengaria's midnight departure brings passengers aboard in evening array.

Richard Platt Plays at "Music Afternoon" in Lime St. Home tend a bit of nautality and glitter to the embarkation scene.

MRS. RONALD LYMAN'S TALL AND STUNNING DAUGHTER, Miss Elizabeth Lyman, does a much-appreciated number in the Flaccid Varieties. Her stage technique carries her with utmost smoothness from the "Girl at the Mirror" impersonation to that of a French modiste. Miss Lyman has an enviable facility with the Gallic idiom, and her frock of ebony tulle, contrasted to the rick of color preceding and following, was a clever selection. The whole smart world is agog over the Varieties; as one clever young matron said: "It's a big family party. All the sisters, aunts and cousins not on the stage are in the audience." Which, of course, creates a delightful camaraderie that makes itself felt on both sides of the footlights.

A NOVELTY VARIETY, PRITTY COSTUMED, IS THE DUTCH "Baby Doll" number. Mrs. David Sears and Miss Josephine Jewell are two in the big group to wear the satin petticoats and velvet bodices of Holland in this number, and both have hanker about their ears the flaxen braids so pictorially Dutch. In contrast to the demurely designed costumes of Holland, there's the brilliant rose Pierrette in the "Swansea Bottom." Mrs. David Sears again, Miss Louise Frederick and Miss Laura Taylor belong in this. Their costumes are of rose satin and mightily becomine.

SHAKESPEARE THEATRE
CHAIRMAN COMES TO HUB
Archibald Flower, chairman of the board of governors of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Stratford-on-Avon, England, and custodian of Shakespeare's birthplace, accompanied by Mrs. Flower, arrived in Boston today. He comes here as a part of his tour of American cities at the invitation of an American committee, in the interest of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre.

He and Mrs. Flower will be the guests of Mrs. Sumner Wendell at dinner Thursday night at the Children's Club and on Friday afternoon they will be the guests at tea of Mrs. Montgomery Sears.

ARREST IN PLOT
TO CHEAT B.-M.
OF $100,000

Lowell, April 6.—The first arrest in the campaign of the Boston & Maine railroad against ticket swindlers was made today when Louis J. Condon, 300 Commercial street, was seized on a warrant carrying four separate offenses. Condon is charged with selling a dozen to be made and reveals a traffic plot that Boston & Maine officials charge costs the road over $100,000.

The conspirators, according to E. W. Sullivan, an inspecting conductor for the railroad, are engaged in commuting on tickets good between Boston and Lowell. Such a ticket costs $1.00, but the conspirator is said, sell the tickets at a rate of $1.10 a round trip, or 75 cents less than the regular fare. Each ticket sold in this manner, Sullivan claims, returns a profit of $1.78 to the promoters of the enterprise.

Lowell is said to be a prolific Boston ticket swindler and is said to have been the usual purchaser of the reduced

The commutation tickets are sold with the understanding that they can be used only by the purchaser, who is required to furnish the railroad company with his signature. For the last ten days there has been a checking up of signatures on all commutation tickets between Lowell and Boston and today's arrest was the result of this investigation.

Weiner, who is alleged to be one of the ring-leaders in the ticket fraud, was held in $200 bail on each of the four counts. He will be given a hearing on April 12 and before that time, it is expected, five others will be arrested as co-conspirators.

While the Arena management is putting on a new coating of ice, and thousands of hockey fans are storming the Arena box office for tickets, the Bruins, cause of all the excitement, are resting quietly.

They will take a short rest time and about in the first week of the series with the Bruins, which is a factor in the Bruins' success.

Manager Art Ross is keeping in the best of his mind the Bruins and has promised to have them at his best for the series.

Col. McKirdy Seeking Heavyweight Star

By Jack Conway

"COL. BOB MCKIRDY of the Commercial Club tells me he plans to develop a young heavyweight who will wrestle the New England championship from Jack Sharkey," said Mr. Boston today.

"This is why the Colonel has booked a heavyweight card for the Commercial Building for tomorrow night," he said. "Competition is the only way to bring out promising boys."

"The Colonel has the right to be rated as one of our best little developers of ring talent. When Robert operated in Bowdoin Square in the days when the Faneuil Hall was a popular rendezvous for some of the ring, he gave many an aspirant for ring fame a chance to start climbing up the ladder of fame."

"Nate Siegel, Young Murrey, Pat McCarthy, Paul Doyle, Eddie Shelvin, Terry Rhodes, Java Powers, George Robinson, and many others used the old Commercial Club as a stepping stone to greater things."

"It is that the Colonel is promoting a new heavyweight star in the Commercial Building, he knows of no person who is a contender for a little bit of money, but he is a contender for a big one."

"Boston promoters cannot hope to pay any heavyweight this kind of money, as the largest money house the club ever had was only $50,000. This is what Money and Sharkey drew when they battled at Harvard Place a year ago last Summer."

"So the Colonel has gone to work to dig up some new heavyweights. He has Ernie Schaaf, former Navy champion, signed to battle Jack Gagnon of New Bedford in the feature ten-round bout of his double-windup tomorrow night."

"I think this Schaaf is the most promising of the younger crop of heavyweights. I first got a glimpse at him when he was butting as a amateur in the navy. He used to knock over the opposition in big time."

"In 1916, Schaaf, a former navy champion, got hold of the younger and started to beat him in the main event. He is a wide old bird and has taught Schaaf a great deal about boxing. The result is that Ernie has been trying along Victory Trail since he joined the ranks of the mucky crew."

"Schaaf recently defeated Al Friedman in Boston. He then stepped in at Jersey and knocked out Al Stone in impressive style."

"Schaaf is only eighteen years of age, has good habits and is a mucky. My tip is to keep an eye on this punching youth."

"They haven't picked any setup for Schaaf. That's one thing I like about Schaaf. He believes that real competition is necessary to make a man a champion. He believes that real competition is necessary to make a man a champion."

MEDBURY SAYS--

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

PHIL is the month when thousands of people are starting their Spring planting. One woman says she wants to grow something this summer besides old.

SHE's tired of hanging around the house and raising nothing but windows.

SHE wants a garden. She says she owes it to her neighbors' children.

SHE admits she doesn't know much about horticulture. Last year she tried to economize on her water bill by planting the vegetables under the weeping willow tree.

SHE also tried to take the disagreeable odor away from onions by sprinkling them with lard.

THIS year she's going to plant a lot of milkweed so that she can have her own cream.

B' mixing it in with the egg plant, she hopes to raise plenty of omelets.

SHE's the kind of a woman who'd play the Rice Bandaged Banner in the garden to make the asparagus stand up.

SHE expects a large crop of golden buttons this Summer because she planted twelve boxes of corn planters.

IF they come up, she'll have to discharge her gardener and hire a chiroprapist.

SHE bought over fifty dollars' worth of seeds. She said she hated to spend the money, but she lost faith in her Congressman.

A CALIFORNIA woman claims she planted a crop of bachelor buttons so that her husband could fix his own shirt.

As soon as these plants begin growing, she can start laughing at the laundries.

SHE also planted ten packages of bleeding hearts and put a quart of kerosene around them to stop the blood.

NEXT thing you know she'll be putting muzzles on the anodragons.

GOME women don't use any Judgement. One lady planted a lot of money wads right next to the dogwood.

THERE was always a fight going on in the garden.

ACCORDING to nurserymen, this is going to be a wonderful year for flowers, and every family should try to raise something around the house besides the rent.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS--BY HELEN ROWLAND

MOST bachelors are "run down" in Spring, when their "vital force" is lowered. But it takes until June to get them to the altar!

No matter how often a boy suffers from eating green apples or falling in love, he never lives long enough to learn that unripe fruit and unwell-timed emotions are as dangerous as poison ivy.

Why do wives in the comic strips go right on using repellants? A can opener is good enough to hit.

ANY husband with, those days! Religion isn't what it used to be! These modern sermons are so violent and exciting that a woman can't plan a new dress during worship any more.

Some Women Always Attract

in a way to make you feel that they are doing you a favor.

"First side" may teach a girl how to revive the half-drowned, stop the flow of blood or tie up a broken wheel, but nothing on earth can help her to revive an expiring romance, stop the dying of love, or tie up a shattered illusion.

"Suppressed desires" may be good things, after all. Many a man goes right on living because his wife nobly suppressed her desire to strangle him, after one of his blight remarks at a dinner party.

No wonder a bachelor is so suspicious of the average woman! If she isn't trying to marry him herself, she is always trying her best to advertise him.

Sick Stomach Teaches Her a Good Lesson

Miss Joanne Ginzberg, Bronx, N. Y., writes: "I had become accustomed to arising each day with a heavy head, dizzy and a bad taste in my mouth. My bowels were frequently clogged and I felt very uncomfortable. One day I became so sick to my stomach I had to leave an important job and go home. I tried to feel greatly relieved since using them and whenever my stomach and head gave out I consulted my doctor. He gave me CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS and a few days later I was feeling better. I am now content, small, easy to swallow, free from pain. They tonic the system as they are pure vegetable and do not contain Mercury, or poisonous drugs. Druggists, 25c and 75c per dozen."

BLOTTCHY SKIN Resinol

SOME WOMEN ALWAYS ATTRACT

You want to be beautiful. You want the modern energy, fresh complexion and pep of youth. Then let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets keep your system free from the poisons caused by clogged bowels and torpid liver.

For 25 years, men and women suffering from stomach troubles, pimples, hives, and headaches have taken Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, known by their olive color. They act easily upon the bowels without griping. They cleanse the system and tone up the liver.

Keep Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets handy. You much better use them before and after meals. 10c, 20c, 50c. All druggists.

Sore Throat

Relieve your sore and aching throat by rubbing it freely with BAUME-BENGUE (Bain-Join). Its penetrating heat soothes the inflamed membrane, soothes the throat, and relieves the pain of nerve or muscle. Nothing like it. Every druggist sells it. Get the original.

Children Cry For

Why Castoria?
Years ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so-called "gummies" as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupify the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

The Quick Magic of Calcium!

Do you want a beautiful complexion this week? A skin that fairly sparkles? And color that is all your own? Then give your system just a little calcium!

Calcium clears away every impurity that keeps the skin sallow or dull. It keeps pores purged, and the cuticle clean. You'll feel and see the difference from the very first day you take a tiny, sugar-coated Stuart's Calcium Wafer!

The most marvelous, and perfect regulator in the whole world, and your druggist has the new name or packet size for a dime!

FREE: A full box, and wafer sample, if you write the J. A. Stuart Co., Dept. M-2, Marshall, Mich.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON: 1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parking problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land; in order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND: 1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.

3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

ONE BIG MAN

Fortunately for This Country, He UNDERSTANDS BUSINESS

ANDREW W. MELLON, SECRETARY OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

You read that under Secretary Mellon's management of the Treasury the national debt has been lowered by many billions of dollars, and you have read recently that at least five hundred million more of surplus has been accumulated. There may even be a reduction of another billion and a half in the debt soon, and in addition, for next year, a substantial cut in taxes.

This is the man behind the financial machinery of the United States.

When President Harding selected him to look after the people's money he spoke of him as "the second richest man in the United States."

What interests the people is that Mr. Mellon, who knows about money, and has proved it in his own case, now devotes his time and energy to the people's great problem of order in his war finance, with results more gratifying to this country and amazing to the whole world.

Before he entered the public service and undertook to manage the most gigantic financial problems ever handled by any man on this earth, Mr. Mellon probably considered himself a busy man.

He had enterprises all over this country and in many other parts of the world, business, industrial, financial undertakings of great magnitude.

All these he turned over to others, neglecting his own interests when he undertook the people's work, and he went from intensely complicated business duties to public duty, MORE intense, even more complicated and extensive. Few citizens probably realize the duties placed by law upon the shoulders of Mr. Mellon as Secretary of the Treasury. Here are a few of them:

Primarily he is responsible for the management of the national financing.

It is his duty to prepare plans for the improvement and increase of revenue, and for the support of public credit.

That he has done both these things is made plain by the fact that the revenue has run billions in excess of the current needs, and makes possible gigantic cutting of the public debt.

And as for our national credit, ahead of all others on earth, its status is shown by the eagerness with which money is lent to the United States at three and three and one-half per cent.

The Secretary of the Treasury superintends the collection of national revenues, directs and controls the rendering of public accounts and making returns.

He issues warrants for all moneys taken from the Treasury in accordance with appropriations made by law, and is responsible for the payment into the Treasury of money due the nation.

In addition, the Secretary of the Treasury controls the construction and maintenance of public buildings, the coining and printing of money, the administration of the Coast Guard and public health branches of the public service. And it is part of his duty to supply Congress with all information needed concerning the foregoing activities.

The Secretary of the Treasury is ex-officio chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, one of the greatest devices for stabilizing credit ever created.

He is ex-officio chairman of the Federal Farm Loan Board, chairman of the World War Foreign Debt Commission, honorary chairman of the United States section of the Inter-American High Commission, supervises the Postal Savings system, is a member of the board of trustees of the Smithsonian Institution, and of the Federal Narcotic Board, and is chairman of the board of directors of the War Finance Corporation.

That partial outline of the duties of the Secretary of the Treasury shows that to have his work properly done this nation needs a man that UNDERSTANDS finance and business. It has such a man in the present Secretary, Mr. Mellon, and to return Mr. Mellon is paid a ridiculous little salary, less than half what he pays innumerable employees in his own private organization.

LITTLE SOULS ARE NOT FETTERED

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE deepest truths are paradoxes. At the bottom of a contradiction or an absurdity is often found the jewel of wisdom.

In the higher realm of feeling, for instance, the greatest liberty is found in keeping the law. "Obedience to law is liberty," the motto runs. The lower the grade of life, the more it finds its pleasure in breaking laws.

A good woman is bound, as "with brass and triple steel," to her honor and her husband. We call a bad woman "abandoned." While she may think herself emancipated—the common sense of the world uses a shorter word—"loose."

The heroes stand by the flag and are out to pieces; the cowards run away. Noble souls are tied; little souls are unfettered.

Real aristocracies are composed of those who are morally bound. The feudal cavalier differed from the villain in that: That he kept his word, was loyal to his king, and faithful to his lady. The man who "cannot tell a lie" is free than the easy liar.

Genuine freedom consists in finding out the laws of the universe and moving in harmony with them. Only thus can we avoid collision and catastrophe.

"The object of systems of morality," says Matthew Arnold, "is to save human life from being abandoned to passion or allowed to drift at hazard." This object they seek to attain by prescribing fixed principles of action, fixed rules of conduct. In its unimpeded as well as in its inspired moments, in its days of languor and in its days of energy, human life has thus always a clew to follow.

The Atomic Giant

By Garrett P. Servis

"Will you please explain how a piece of water contains enough atomic power to run a big industry, if it could be utilized?"—John W. Thompson.

YOU must first get inside an atom, taking perhaps a "relativistic" along with you to serve as a more or less trustworthy guide in the darkness of that mysterious and awful, though infinitesimal, cavern.

A hydrogen atom must be disproportionately heavy, compared with atoms in which "packing" may occur.

We take the substance helium, which stands next to hydrogen in atomic mass, and has a nucleus containing four protons and two electrons, while two other electrons revolve around it. In this case "packing" can occur. Now there is evidence that the atomic mass of helium is 4 on a basis of comparison which makes that of hydrogen 1.0077. Suppose, then, that an atom of hydrogen is changed into one of helium, the mass of the latter ought to be 4 times 1.0077, or 4.0308, whereas, in fact, it is only 4.0026. What has become of the missing 0.0282? This doctrine of the interchangeability of mass and energy gives the answer that the missing mass is accounted for by "packing" in the helium nucleus, whereby the fraction 0.0282 has been radiated away as liberated energy.

Now, the amount of this liberated energy has been calculated, and found to be so vast that a single hydrogen atom of hydrogen turned into helium would set free the equivalent working power of 100,000 watt-hours or say 210,000 horsepower hours.

Unfortunately, or perhaps fortunately, considering the present bloodthirsty disposition shown by a good share of humanity, we have no means of producing this atomic energy at will.

BOSTON DAY-B-DAY

GOVERNORS WILLIAM S. ROBERTS, president of the Rumford Press, Concord, N. H., tells of a recent exchange of compliments which he overheard passing between the Governor of North Carolina and the Governor of Virginia at the dedication of a new bridge. The Virginia chief executive spoke of his commonwealth as "the mother of States." The North Carolina Governor's comment took the form of friendly advice, urging that "Mother" mind her hair and shorten her skirts if she expects to keep up with her daughters."

BOSTON has an interesting group of prominent women who have been in the ranks of opera singers. MRS. ALVAN T. FULLER was VIOLA DAVENPORT of the Boston Opera Company before her marriage. MRS. MORRIS BUTLER of Dedham was BERNICE FISHER of the same company before she married the son of ex-senator WILLIAM M. BUTLER. MRS. MARIA DE FERRA, another of the group, is planning a Boston recital in the near future. JESKA SCHWARTZ became MRS. JULIUS MORSE and gave up Covent Garden and the Chicago Opera Company. MRS. AGNES JACCHIA used to be known as ESTHER FERRABINI, a famous Carmen in Europe.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A TALB of intrigue, unfeelingness and revengeful death had been flung across the scene. They were filming the Hall-Mills murder story.

The audience had watched it eagerly, giving a little forward in the seats, eyes narrowed, heads unconsciously thrust out between their shoulders.

Then the lights went on. The men and women slumped back in their seats, looking at each other a little foolishly. They wiped their damp faces and hands with handkerchiefs.

Young girl appeared on the stage, a thin girl, dressed in black, her face washed by grief and tears.

For a long moment she stood silent, her haunted eyes looking down into those hundreds of other eyes. Then, painfully, she began to tell the story of her mother. She told of her mother's beauty and sweet voice—the poverty and monotony of her home life—of how love started and grew into an absorbing, mad passion. Then came that last terrible night when the poor, devoted mother went to her doom, saying to her little girl, "Wait until I come back."

So Charlotte Mills told the story of her mother. And so she still sits holding her love and faith like a bright candle, against that night when she saw her mother alive.

"WAIT UNTIL I COME BACK!" she cries each poor, trapped mortal who has gone astray and lost his way down the black trail of Wrong.

They do not mean to leave the light of home.

They do not mean to turn their backs forever on sweet love and truth, on decency and honor and fair play.

"WAIT UNTIL I COME BACK!" Will you not hold your hand from judgment and your pride from scorn and let your heart be open to that cry?

Try not to think of them as bad, damned things—as criminals—despised by God and man. But think of them as children who have strayed—Who wait, despite their better selves, into the night—And going, cried—"PLEASE WAIT UNTIL I COME BACK!"

Can you not wait, you who are safe and warm, and hold the candle of your faith to guide their stumbling feet?
